

The PCBv4 Gerber files have been removed while the power and load tests are underway in case design revisions are required. This is a distinct possibility with the prospect of integrating a capacitive discharge and high speed switching circuit for combining high current and HV pulses to improved performance.

Julian Perry
15.02.23